LACE CURTAINS A SPECIALTY

JOHN EYRAUD, Proprietor.

"Oh Promising Me!"
At some time in her life Cupid pleads in every woman's ear, and when that time comes it is a woman's duty to think twice before she answers. She should think once for herself, and once for the man who has chosen her for his life companion. If she is suffering from a torturing, dragging weakness or disease so prevalent with her sex, she has no right to answer "Yes" until her health is restored. If she does, she will be wretched and ill herself and her home will be an unhappy one. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific remedy that cures all weakness, disease, disorder and derangement of the delicate and important feminine organs. It is not a "cure-all," but a medicine devised to correct this one class of disorders and no other. It has accomplished its purpose in tens of thousands of cases, as is shown by tens of thousands of testimonials of the grateful patients themselves. It imparts vigor and vitality to the entire womanly organism, and is the best of all nerve tonics and restoratives. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. It transforms weak, nervous, despondent invalids into healthy, happy women.

"I was so weak I could scarcely walk about the house," writes Mattie Seagers, of Allen's Creek, Amherst Co., Va. "Was reduced to a mere skeleton. I was never free from pain in the back and head and could not sleep at night. I bought three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery' and two vials of 'Pleasant Pellets.' After taking these six weeks I felt like a new person; slept well and gained in flesh. I am doing all my own housework and we have nine in the family."

A man or woman who neglects constipation suffers from slow poisoning. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and a true mild cathartic. All medicine dealers sell them. No other pills are "just as good."

Doing It by Halves.

"My wife went west the other day to visit her sister who lives in California," said Brown with a smile. "I was unable to go with her on account of being detained here on a matter of business that needed my attention; so I went with her as far as Chicago, saw her safely on an overland train and then came back. But before I left her I looked up the porter and gave him half of a $5 bill that I had torn in two, saying that my wife had the other half and that he would get that at the end of the journey if he would see that she needed for nothing on the trip."

The porter's eyes stuck out, and he faithfully promised that my wife would receive the best of care; so I came away feeling that she would not lack for anything.

"When I returned home I discovered to my horror that I had neglected to give my wife the other half of the bill. Today I received a letter from her reminding me of that fact and saying that she had torn a dollar bill in two and given it to the porter."

"Somewhere along the line there must be a wild-eyed dork with the halves of two worthless bills in his possession and a firm conviction that he has been worked by some sort of a new financial game."

"I am very anxious to have my wife return so I can find out from her what sort of reasoning she used when she gave that porter a half instead of the whole of that $1 bill."—Detroit Free Press.

Changed Her Mind Too.

A young couple in a Lancashire village had been courting for several years. The young man one day said to the woman:

"Sally, I canna marry thee."

"How's that?" asked she.

"I've changed my mind," said he.

"Well, I'll tell you what we'll do," said she. "If folk know that it's thee as has given me up, I shanna be able to get another chap, but if they think that I've given you up then I can get another chap. So we'll have banns published, and when the wedding day comes the parson will say to thee, 'Wilt thou have this woman to be thy wedded wife?' and thou must say, 'I will.' And when he says to me, 'Wilt thou have this man to be thy wedded husband?' I shall say, 'I winna.'"

"The day came, and when the minister said, 'Wilt thou have this woman to be thy wedded wife?' the man answered:

"I will."

"Then the parson said to the woman: 'Wilt thou have this man to be thy wedded husband?' And she said:

"I will."

"Why," said the young man furiously, "you said you would say, 'I winna.'"

"I know that," said the young woman, "but I've changed my mind since."

—London Answers.

Stood by His Dad.

Once when John Van Buren, son of President Van Buren, was making a speech in behalf of his father, an old Democrat rose in the audience and upbraided him as a bolter. Few men were more effective on the stump or quicker at repartee than John, and he replied to the charge with an anecdote something like this:

"One day a man on horseback came up with a boy who was contending with an overturned load of hay. Instead of tossing the hay back in the wagon, the boy was energetically tossing it hither and thither, regardless of where it landed.

"The traveler halted and said: 'My young friend, why do you work so furiously this hot weather? Why do you not toss the hay back in the wagon and be more deliberate in your labors?'

"The boy stopped, wiped the streaming perspiration off his face on his shirt sleeve, and, pointing to the pile of hay on the roadside, exclaimed, 'Stranger, dad's under that,' and then he set about work more furiously than ever."

Pretty Lively Feeling.

I was out walking in Kingston, Jamaica, one afternoon, and while on a narrow side street I came upon two black women, each apparently in a towering rage. Each woman's tongue was going at a phenomenal rate, but not a word of their screeching jargon was intelligible to me.

Finally one of the women scooped up a double handful of the ever present Kingston dust and flung it over the other woman with a wild shriek of laughter. The dust covered woman retaliated by taking a tin pan she had in her hand and scooping up a couple of quarts of the dirty water in the gutter by the roadside drenched her assailant with it, while all that part of Kingston resounded with the mad laughter. The two women then closed in on each other and proceeded to engage in a prolonged wrestle, which resulted in both of them falling to the ground, where they rolled over and over in a cloud of dust and finally stood upon their feet, facing each other in a state of dirt and disorder beyond description.

Fearing that they would make a second onslaught on each other and wishing to play the part of peacemaker, I stepped forward and asked: "What is the trouble?"

Courtesying low, one of the women said in a soft, drawing voice:

"No trouble at all, mastah; we's jest foolin'."—Harper's Bazar.

The Only Place to Put Them.

"I say," said a friend the other day, "you are an old hand at it. I have only just got married and don't understand much about the business. I should like to know whether a married man has any rights left when he takes unto himself a wife?"

"Rights? Yes, lots. He has a right to pay all the bills!"

"Stop! I mean this. Let me give you an instance. Every box, every chest of drawers and portmanteau and in fact every available receptacle of every description is stuffed full of my wife's property, and when I want to put away a few cuffs and collars—" "Hold hard. I know what you mean. Listen, young man. If your bedroom were 200 yards long, lined from the door to the ceiling with shelves, and you wanted a place to stow away a couple of shirts, you couldn't find a nook that wasn't full of hairpins, scent bottles, odd gloves, pieces of ribbon, odd feathers and artificial flowers, little bits of tape and buttons galore, with pins and needles thrown in, so just accept the inevitable. Wrap your personal property in an old newspaper parcel and hide it under the bed."

He grinned ironically, but passed on a sadder and wiser man.—London Tid-Bits.

Fruitless.

"Maria, at last it has come!"

The hitherto careworn face of the middle-aged husband had taken on a new brilliancy, and his whole attitude was expressive of some sudden joy.

"Yes," said he triumphantly, "after a lifetime passed in ceaseless endeavor for your sake I am at last rewarded. My invention has been sold and a fortune awaits me. Think, Maria, of what this means to you! You will never have to make me another shirt or cravat as long as you live!"

His wife looked at him with reproachful glance.

"James," she said tenderly, "I hope I shall never be too proud for that. No matter, James, how rich you shall be it will always be my greatest pleasure and privilege to make your shirts and ties."

Her husband did not reply, but a few moments later, alone in his own room, he bowed his head over his clasped hands and muttered in bitter anguish: "Alas, the labor of a lifetime spent for naught!"—Town Topics.

Chinese Sun and Moon.

In China the sun and moon are brother and sister. The moon is the elder brother, who looks after his rather silly sister, the sun. This is exactly the reverse of our legends, which make the sun the day king and the gentle moon lady of the night.

One day in China, so the legend runs, the sun asked the moon if she couldn't go out at night. The moon answered very sternly: "No. You are a young lady, and it would be improper for you to go out after dark." Then the sun said, "But the people keep looking at me when I go out in the daytime." So the moon told her to take the golden needles that she wore in her hair and stick them into the eyes of people when they stared at her. This is the reason why no one can look at the sun without pain.

A Conservative Parrot.

A correspondent of The Spectator tells of an aged parrot of most conservative instincts. The owner had recently a new carpet in her dining room, where the parrot lives, and Polly made herself quite ill with her strong objection to this innovation. She screamed "Take it away!" till she was exhausted, and at last she refused to eat her food till they brought a square of the old carpet and put it around the cage. She then at once became cheerful and reconciled to life, though she will never take her walks abroad beyond her beloved piece of old carpet.

CAPITAL AND LABOR.

Almost all that has been said or written upon the problem of capital and labor and their reconciliation has had a humane tendency in its effect. The capitalist has not been acted upon in any direct sense, but a certain reflex movement has reached him through the convictions and conclusions of others who have taken a humane view of the subject, and progress has been made by humanitarians in the right direction, but all that has been accomplished has been arrived at through concessions made by capital on humane grounds, which is very different from concessions made upon the theory of right.

Capital as a rule excludes by an envelope of selfishness all consideration of concession to labor as a matter of right. Whatever it does do, is done on humane principles, which more often than in former times make their appearance to the credit of capital and the advanced condition of humane action under the influence of a higher humanity.

When we have taken into account the tendency of the age to a higher life the principle of right remains in the background where capital has placed it, and no effort by capital has been made to bring the rights of labor forward for consideration as a naked proposition. When the rights of labor have received any recognition it has been under more or less duress, or because of some other cause, chief among which has been the humane cause, which humane cause remains largely unexplained in its operation, but it appears to have taken, in an active sense, possession of the human mind.

Capital and labor presents to the philosophic mind a problem for solution that has caused much thought and much effort to solve. Many conclusions have been made respecting the means that should be used, and the way they should be applied to bring capital and labor together in harmony.

The problem has been treated from different standpoints, and upon the premises taken, which have been mostly assumed, different conclusions have been made respecting a common end sought to be attained. While those who were engaged in the work intended to furnish a solution of the problem, after much earnest thought by them had been given to the subject, the effect of the reports made has been progress made, and no more.

It is well to think over or philosophize upon problems that include principles when put in operation that will benefit mankind, but to arrive at the practical side of a problem is often quite as difficult as its original solution. That which is most needed for the present is a practical solution of the labor question when applied to capital.

We are informed by capital that supply and demand is the only solution the question will admit of in any practical sense, and no other solution could be applied in a practical way. Should it be that capital is correct, then human labor, which is all that a large majority of the people have to offer in market, takes the same relation to capital that is taken by a cabbage; and for that reason and no other capital is in error.

Man is intelligent and his labor is a result of intelligence, and the result of his labor is intelligence personified, for which reason man's labor is subject to a higher law than the law of supply and demand. The law of supply and demand operates upon labor as it operates upon all things valuable to man, and the law largely regulates values in matters that pertain to labor, but when we have conceded the principle that effects values, no further concession is required to the law of supply and demand. The material part of man's labor is disposed of by supply and demand in connection with the law of cause and effect, but the intelligent part remains undisposed of by these laws. It may be and is claimed that the intelligent part of man's labor is also regulated by the same laws. It is admitted that the intelligent part is so regulated as conditions are, but the cause of its regulation and subjection to the same laws is a result of applied force.

When we have learned that the regulation and subjection of intelligence to capital is a result of the law of force applied, which application of force is in opposition to natural law, and natural law is overcome by force. We have also learned that the applied force by capital against natural law is the cause of contention between capital and labor.

Prepare to Pay Taxes.

The taxes on all Washoe county real estate will be due on Monday. Treasurer Boyd yesterday mailed 1250 postal cards notifying taxpayers of the time and amounts due. Of the 1250 property owners, 680 are in Reno, 178 in Wadsworth, 65 in Verdi and the remainder are Valley residents.

That Engine House.

An article appeared in the Gazette of last evening made up from interviews with some of the parties interested, regarding the construction of a building which at present is intended for the use of a town fire department. It seems that Mr. Fletcher of the Bank of Nevada has some money that he had no better use for than to put it into a building suitable for fire purposes. It appears to have been arranged in some way that the town fire department would occupy the building at a rental agreed on by those interested and those in authority, which should be regarded as a very excellent arrangement, but it seems some one flooded the town last evening with lodgers that were intended to give to the people of Reno information upon the interior make-up of the brick that is used in the construction of the building.

Suppose it is true that the brick is not of first class quality. Is it the business of any one who is not interested in the matter? Mr. Fletcher has a right to do as he chooses with his money or other property, and has a right to put in a building any sort of brick he may deem proper to use. It is the old story in Reno, of somebody attending to the business of others, whose help is not needed or in the least desired. Perhaps there is not another town on the earth of the size of Reno that contains more, or as many busybodies who are continuously putting their noses into other people's affairs. Reno has been and is cursed by having in it so many persons who make it a business to attend to other people's financial interests.

BREVITIES.

Eleven carloads of sheep belonging to Flanigan and Levy came in on the N-C-O. and were shipped west yesterday.

Dixon Bros. have just received a carload of fine looking hogs from Sierra Valley.

The University Cadet Band turned out yesterday and favored the townspeople with several selections. They were advertising last night's play "The Nominee," given by the Reno Dramatic Club.

H. E. Casey, P. H. Keefe, J. H. Giblin and J. Humphrey were in town Thursday with about 150 head of horses which they were driving from Sierra to Mason Valley.

Manheim has received a consignment of "Camera" and "Nut-cracker" chewing gum, also crisps. In a few days he will receive a supply of tooth-pulling gum.

The Benefit Performance

The Reno Dramatic Club last night played "The Nominee," at McKissick's Opera House. A large audience was present and all seemed satisfied with the creditable way in which the laughable comedy was handled by the talented amateur thespians. F. P. Dunn as "Jack Medford," the patriotic nominee, kept the audience convulsed with laughter and Prof. N. E. Wilson in the character of "Leopold Bunyan" did especially well. All in all, our local organization maintained its already enviable reputation.

They leave Reno this morning for Wadsworth, where they will play tonight, returning home tomorrow.

For Over Fifty Years.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used by millions of mothers for their children when teething. If disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it mothers there is no mistake about it. It cures Diarrhoea, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, cures Wind Colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation and gives Tone and Energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething is pleasant to the taste and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Price 25 cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists throughout the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup."

High Time to Rustle.

Where is the committee of citizens appointed by Governor Sadler to arrange for the reception of the Nevada Cavalry?

Only a few days remain in which to prepare a program, and nothing has yet been done. The fund is growing, the Red Cross ladies will help the needy, and every man, woman and child in Reno wants to do something to show their appreciation for our soldier boys. Let the committee get to work at once.

Regiment Passes Through.

The Fortieth Regiment, U. S. Infantry was passing through Reno yesterday. There are five train loads of them on their way from Fort Riley, Kansas, to the Philippines.

If rough, coarse manners are indicative of fighting ability, the Fortieth evidently has lots of good soldiers in its ranks. It is to be hoped that campaign life will improve a majority of them.

Mail Carriers not Appointed.

Inquiry as to why the free mail delivery system, which was to have been in operation on the 1st, has not yet been inaugurated, reveals the fact that Washington officials have not yet appointed the carriers. The town is numbered, the posts are up ready for the mail boxes and the applicants for positions as carriers have long since taken the civil service examination.

PERSONALS.

Prof. B. D. Jackson came down from Gold Hill on the V. & T. last night.

J. B. O'Sullivan departed for a week's vacation in Frisco last night.

Through the courtesy of Jos. Holdener, proprietor of the Dewey saloon, the JOURNAL was given full telegraphic reports of the Sharkey-Jeffries fight.

The Arcade saloon was crowded last night with men eager to get the fight by rounds. Betting was 10 to 8 in favor of Jeffries.

Dr. Bullison went west last night.

Miss Lulu Oulp has returned from Carson to re-enter the University.

Harry Davis left for San Francisco last night to lay in a stock of novelties and holiday goods. He will stay below only a few days.

Miss Stella Linscott went down to the city yesterday morning to witness the arrival of the transport bearing the Nevada cavalry and to welcome her brother, Captain Linscott.

G. A. N. Hughes left yesterday morning for a short vacation in San Francisco. During his absence Mr. Beecher will take his run on the N-C-O.

"At 'The Model' you can find a fine assortment of stationery, blank books, pencils of all kinds, playing cards, dice, cubes, brushes, shaving outfits and a full line of notions always to be found at Harry Davis, 'The Model' stationery and cigar store.

Last fall I strained my left hip while handling some heavy boxes. The doctor I called on said at first it was a slight strain and would soon be well, but it grew worse and the doctor then said I had rheumatism. It continued to grow worse and I could hardly get around to work. I went to a drug store and the druggist recommended me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I tried it and one-half of a 50-cent bottle cured me entirely. I now recommend it to all my friends.—F. A. BANCROFT, Erie, Pa. It is for sale by W. Pinniger.

Would Not Suffer So Again for Fifty Times Its Price.

I awoke last night with severe pains in my stomach. I never felt so badly in all my life. When I came down to work this morning I felt so weak I could hardly work. I went to Miller & McGard's drug store and they recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It worked like magic and one dose fixed me all right. It certainly is the finest thing I ever used for stomach trouble. I shall not be without it in my home hereafter, for I should not care to endure the sufferings of last night again for fifty times its price.—G. H. Wilson, Liverman, Bargettsstown, Washington Co., Pa. This remedy is for sale by W. Pinniger.

Story of a Slave.

To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. George D. Williams, of Manchester, N.H., tells how such a slave was made free. He says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle working medicine is a godsend to weak, sickly, run down people. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50c. Sold by S. J. Hodgkinson Druggist.

A Card of Thanks.

I wish to say that I feel under lasting obligations for what Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has done for our family. We have used it in so many cases of coughs, lung troubles and whooping cough, and it has always given the most perfect satisfaction, we feel greatly indebted to the manufacturers of this remedy and wish them to please accept our hearty thanks.—Respectfully, Mrs. S. DORR, Des Moines, Iowa. For sale by W. Pinniger.

JEFFRIES WINS ON POINTS.

They Slugged Twenty-five Rounds.

BOTH WERE WINDED AT THE FINISH

Sharkey Knocked Down Twice in the Second Round—Clinches Occur Quite Frequently.

A mighty throng gathered at the big Coney Island pavilion last night to see the noted heavyweight pugilists, Jeffries and Sharkey, fight for the championship of the world. Both men were in the ring at ten o'clock. George Siler of Chicago acted as referee. Following is the fight by rounds:

Round 1—Both men step confidently to the center and spar for an opening. No very heavy blows exchanged. Two clinches and Jeff lands on jaw as going sounds.

Round 2—Jeffries forces the fighting by opening with a right on Sharkey's ribs. They clinch. Tom wallops jaw with left. Jeff runs Tom to ropes and staggers him with left on jaw. Sharkey drops under a right hook. He takes the nine seconds and when he gets up to his feet Jeff again knocks him down with a heavy left on the jaw. Sharkey gets up quickly while Jeff grins mockingly. Sharkey jumps in and swings wildly. Jeff jabs left on the mouth, another clinch and Tom looks to ear on breakaway. Jeff lands heavy right on ribs and clinch. They break and Jeff knocks Tom to his knees.

Round 12—After a few raps on stomach Jeff blocked left for stomach and ducks to a clinch. Tom swings both hands to head staggering Jeff with three left swings on jaw, Jeff on stomach with both hands. Tom hooks right to jaw and dazes Jeff with left smash on chin, another left on jaw makes Jeff wobble.

Round 13—Sharkey lands on wind and mouth with left, Jeff puts right under heart and Tom staggers. Jim with left on jaw, Tom hooks left to chin, Jeff clinches. Tom smashes eye and mouth with left, another left on jaw staggers Jeff and as Tom raises to swing he pivots and is cautioned. Clinching at the close.

Round 14—Eleven hundred dollars to one thousand offered on Tom. Not taken. After a few blows Jeff clinches.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE
Makes the food more delicious and wholesome
ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

Round 25—Both look strong. They shake hands. Tom puts left on mouth. Jeff reaches ribs with right; Tom ducks and Jeff puts right under heart. Jeff raps jaw with right and with left goes to Tom's stomach. Tom swings right to jaw; Jeff replies with hard right on jaw, clinch and Jeff's glove is torn from left hand as they wrestle. Tom goes to floor; he is up immediately. Siler picks up glove and starts to replace it on Jeff's hand. Tom looks puzzled. Seconds yell to him to go to Jeff. Tom tries to punch him. Jeff throws his right to the shoulder and all three—harkey, Jeffries and referee—are clinched when bell ended the battle.

The referee declared Jeffries the winner. It was a remarkably fast and furious battle. Sharkey was the stronger near the end, but weakened under Jeff's onslaughts. Jeffries wraps a flag around his neck and is congratulated on all sides. Sharkey was cheered for his great showing. Jim Jeffries is still the champion heavyweight of the world.

Almost a Fire.

In endeavoring to put up an electric light fixture yesterday, John Urban, proprietor of the shoe store near the JOURNAL office, crossed the wires, forming a short circuit which burned out a 700 light fuse at the power house. The wires in the shoe store heated up and ignited the insulation which was soon blazing merrily. The store filled with smoke and the frightened proprietor turned in an alarm. Electrician H. Askins was soon on the scene and cut the wires. Beyond the scare no damage was done.

People who are not familiar with electrical apparatus should not tamper with the lines as they not only endanger property but usually put the town in darkness for some time.

A Life and Death Fight.

Mr. W. B. Hines of Manchester, Ia., writing of his almost miraculous escape from death, says: "Exposure after measles induced serious lung trouble, which ended in consumption. I had frequent hemorrhages and coughed night and day. All my doctors said I must soon die. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which completely cured me. I would not be without it, even if it cost $5.00 a bottle. Hundreds have used it on my recommendation and all say it never fails to cure throat, chest and lung troubles." Regular size 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store.

ECHOES FROM THE GRIDIRON

Nevada Will Play the U. C. Team at Berkeley on the Fifteenth.

The Nevada football team will leave Reno for Palo Alto on the 10th, where they will clash with the sturdy Stanfordites on the 11th. On the 15th, four days later, they will line up against the University of California team on the Berkeley field.

Nevada has had some trouble in fixing the date of the Berkeley game, and it was thought a few days ago that the game would be declared off, but Manager Mump of the Berkeley team, on hearing that the Nevada faculty forbade its team playing on the 4th, arranged for a meet to follow the Stanford game on the date above mentioned.

Our team has been well advertised throughout California and these two inter-collegiate game will doubtless draw large crowds. The recent victory over Santa Clara's strong semi-professional team was a signal for rejoicing in every academic school on the coast, and has put the two great 'Varsities on the anxious seat. Many Reno people signify an intention of going below to Nevada's first great inter-collegiate game.

Announcement.

I have just received a complete line of working and dress shirts of the latest patterns and styles, which I will sell at bedrock prices. I wish to call particular attention to a working shirt I am handling. It is undoubtedly the best working shirt that was ever sold on the Coast for the money. Call and examine the same.

I have all the latest patterns in golf and negligee shirts, in silks and madras cloths.

I am pleased to announce that I have secured the agency of the Wheeler overall, famous on this Coast as being the best fitting and most durable overall on the market. It is riveted, triple-sewed and made of the heaviest and best denim. Try a pair and be convinced.

Bismarck's Iron Nerve.

Was the result of his splendid health. Indomitable will and tremendous energy are not found where Stomach, Liver, Kidneys and Bowels are out of order. If you want these qualities and the success they bring, use Dr. King's New Life Pills. They develop every power of brain and body. Only 25c at Hodgkinson's drug store.

Employment for All.

Men are wanted at Floriston to work on the construction force of the paper mills now building. Every one who wants work is given employment at living wages. A. Nelson has been authorized as the Reno agent. The cry "no work, hard times" don't go in Reno any more.

Fixed the Fire Anyway.
"The worst kind of a fool in the world is a well meaning fool," said a detective sagely. "I was walking along one night in a neighborhood not necessary to specify, when up rushed a man in his shirt sleeves and grabbed me by the arm. 'Say, officer!' he exclaimed, calling me by name, 'I just saw a fellow do something that he ought to get ten years for at least.
He was a big loafer in a checked suit, and I would know him again in China.'"
"But what did he do?" I interrupted.
"Why, I was sitting on my porch," replied the man in shirt sleeves, "and saw him go up deliberately to that letter box on the corner and drop in a lighted cigar stump. Just think of the valuable mail the scoundrel might have destroyed!"
"Are you sure the cigar was lit?" I asked.
"Well, I'm pretty sure," he said,
"but you needn't to worry. He hasn't burned up anything."
"How the dickens do you know he hasn't?" said I, surprised.
"Why, I got a pitcher of water and poured it right in," said he. "I walked off. I never did find out what those letters looked like when the carrier got around."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

His Uncontagious Laugh.
"Laugh and the world laughs with you." How true that is," said Mr. Higgleson. "To have written just that line was worth living for."
"Oh, I don't know about that," Mrs.
Higgleson replied. "I admit that there is a good deal of philosophy in the poem from which those words are taken, but it isn't always true."
"My dear," Mr. Higgleson exclaimed,
"you are mistaken. It is always true.
'Laugh and the world laughs with you.'
It's as true as anything that has ever been written. The whole philosophy of human existence is bound up in those few words."

When Lincoln Died.
And so the hours passed without perceptible change in the president's condition and with only slight shifting of the scene around him. The testimony of those who had witnessed the murder began to be taken in an adjoining room. Occasionally the figures at the bedside changed. Mrs. Lincoln came in at intervals, sobbing out her grief, and then was led away. This man went, another took his place. It was not until daylight that there came a perceptible change. Then the breathing grew quieter, the face became more calm.

The doctors at Lincoln's side knew that dissolution was near. Their bulletin of 6 o'clock read, "Still failing," that of half past 6, "Still failing," that of 7, "Symptoms of immediate dissolution," and then at 22 minutes past 7, in the presence of his son, Secretaries
Stanton, Welles and Usher, Attorney General Speed, Senator Sumner, Private Secretary Hay, Dr. Gurley, his pastor, and several physicians and friends, Abraham Lincoln died.
There was a prayer, and then the solemn voice of Stanton broke the stillness. "Now he belongs to the ages," McClure's Magazine.

Only Jar of Its Kind.
Horace Walpole tells a lively story of an old porcelain vender, who had an exceedingly rare and valuable jar on which he set an almost fabulous price.
One hot summer a slight volcanic shock, such as the British isles occasionally experience, joggled his house about its ears and split his porcelain vase. To an ordinary mind the accident would have been calamitous, but the china seller rose superior to fortune.
He doubled the price of the article immediately and advertised it as "the only jar in the world which had been cracked by an earthquake." Nothing very slow about that. Whether he got his money is not added, but he certainly deserved it.

Had Left For Parts Unknown.
In a murder trial in Dallas the counsel for the defense was examining a reinemman regarding his qualifications to serve. The candidate admitted that he had once been a member of a jury which tried a negro for murder. It is not permissible in such cases to ask the result of the trial, so the counsel said:
"Where is that negro now?"
"I don't know," was the reply. "The sheriff hanged him at the appointed time."—Law Notes.

Modest Appeal.
The attention of English speaking visitors to the Milan cathedral is readily attracted by the following notice which appears over an alms box:
"Appeal to Charitables. The Brothers, so called, of Mercy ask slender arms for the Hospital. They harbor all kinds of diseases and have no respect to religion."

Tells Its Own Story.
In a pretty Wisconsin town not far from Milwaukee there is a "spite fence" which tells its own story to all the world. It is a high and tight board affair and cuts off a view across a number of beautiful lawns. The man who lives on one side of it evidently feared that the fence would bring down on his head the condemnation of his neighbors. Not wishing to be unjustly blamed, he has therefore painted on his side of the fence in letters that can be read a block away these words:
"He built this fence. I didn't do it."
The man on the other side also had no idea of letting a false impression get out. Accordingly he has painted on the other side of the high barrier:
"I had to do it."
